THE CROP IN EGYPT

"Cotton" of Manchester, issue of December 21, 1935, contains a dispatch from the Societe Cotonniere d'Egypte, of Alexandria, dated December 13, which reads as follows:

It is now obvious that the Sakel and Maarad crops of this year have given an abundance of the higher grades, cotton below Fully Good Fair is difficult to find. On the other hand, Giza 7 has been found a medium crop, wealthy in the medium to lower classes and short of the better grades.

In Uppers the top grades continue very scarce and the greater bulk of the crop, composed of medium qualities, has been found more leafy than last season.

The Zagora crop is about normal with previous seasons.

LONG STAPLE COTTON MARKET CONDITIONS

The New Bedford Sunday Standard-Times of January 19 states as follows:

"Staple cotton markets here and elsewhere in New England gave but scant evidence this week of renewed buying interest, and trading was scattered and erratic, with price quotations so irregular that it was hard to ascertain the true market levels.

"Cotton manufacturers seem to be postponing further purchases of cotton until the last minute, expecting that there may be some release of cotton now held in the various pools controlled by the Government. This, it is believed here, would be likely to bring somewhat easier basis prices. Attention is also being given to the crop control situation with reference to the new crop. The prospects of unrestricted planting are believed to introduce a hazard of substantially lower cotton prices due to a large yield this year. Most mill men would like to have more definite information on this point before buying any considerable quantity of additional cotton.

"Current quotations on middling prompt shipment cotton classed on Government standards and based on March futures are given herewith, FOB New Bedford:

Inch and 1/8th - 315 to 340.
Inch and 3/16ths - 450 to 475.

THE CROP IN EGYPT

"Cotton" of Manchester, issue of January 4, 1936, contains the following dispatch from the Societe Cotonniere d'Egypte, of Alexandria, dated December 19, 1935 -

Land preparations have commenced or are being planned in Southern Provinces of Upper Egypt. On the whole native farmers are stated to have benefited well this year from the sale of their cotton, and, although prices of cereals are highly remunerative, an extension of the cotton acreage rather than a reduction is expected, unless local cotton prices meanwhile decline materially. With regard to Lower Egypt it is highly probable that the Sakel acreage will be further reduced in favour of Guiza 7.

LONG STAPLE COTTON MARKET CONDITIONS

The New Bedford Sunday Standard-Times of January 23 states as follows:

"Staple cotton markets were not very active during the past week either here or in other New England textile centers. There was some slight increase in the amount of buying interest, and in some quarters actual inquiry for cotton was reported in limited quantities. Trading was limited, however, though prices showed comparatively little change from the previous week.

*

*

"In some quarters of the market there has been an active demand for Pima cotton which has been moving in small lots around 30 cents for number ones of good staple and 28 to 29 cents for twos, though some claim to have bought real twos for 27 to 27½ cents.
